DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Claims 1 and 3 are indefinite in that the term "can" is indefinite. In these claims it is uncertain whether this function is required to be performed or not.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

4. Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Wang.

Art Unit: 3711

Wang discloses an elastic sleeve in the form of rubber (Col. 3, Lns. 7-12), a second end being conical (Fig. 5), a strip wrapping spiral (Fig. 8), a hollow skirt stretched out from a second end (Fig. 5), a hollow skirt able to be turned over toward a second end (Fig. 8), an inward neck (Fig. 5), a vertical length of a skirt being longer than that of the second end (Fig. 8), and a diameter of an open end of a skirt being equal to a maximum diameter of a second end (Fig. 5).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Wang.

Wang discloses a skirt having substantially the same length and increasing rate of the outer diameter as a stopper (Col. 3, Lns. 1-6). Clearly an artisan skilled in the art making a skirt substantially the same increasing rate as the outer diameter as a stopper would have selected a suitable increasing rate in which a diameter of an open end of a hollow skirt being slightly smaller than a maximum diameter of a second end is included. Wang lacks a diameter of an open end of a hollow skirt being slightly smaller than a maximum diameter of a second end. It would have been obvious to modify the grip of Wang to have a diameter of an open end of a hollow skirt being slightly smaller than a maximum diameter of a second end in order to provide a tighter grip around the wrapped strip.
